My professional career has included principal positions with symphony orchestras both on stage and in management. I have design and publication expertise in multiple mediums and practical experience as a music educator in Texas. Having held assistant conductor and program coordinator positions, I now supervise media, manage budgets, and marketing and public relations for a university system that regularly features classical artists such as Itzhak Perlman, Yo-Yo Ma, Renée Fleming and Plácido Domingo and popular icons including Ricky Skaggs, The Pointer Sisters, Dionne Warwick, and Patti LaBelle. I direct and design events in multiple capacities from theatrical and operatic stage to corporate galas and parties. Vocally, I performed, and continue to perform principal roles in regional opera and musical theatre productions and voice-acting for television and commercials. Though my formal education through my doctorate is in music performance, I have a developed passion for marketing – particularly arts events. I have a successful track record of corporate development and fund-raising. My on-the-job training in previous positions has only enhanced my abilities. I am ready to put that to use on a broader scope in a more cosmopolitan environment.
